“ Travis Hoelewyn said he would have attended the funeral if he had known about it sooner. Travis said he thought highly of "Aunt Frances" and she was one of his favorite persons. The funeral was a personal, private affair and done rapidly due to the Covid virus and the two threatening storms, Marco and Laura, in the Gulf. Nonetheless Travis and his family, and Susan of West Columbia send condolences to the family and friends

“ As a tribute to Frances Solomon, I wish to add a few more memories of my mother. Most of these are from my childhood. Yes, my mother was a cook, a caregiver at times, and had religious devotion. But she was much more than that. I remember she loved flowers and gardening. At one point in my youth, she had a large garden and flowers. She used to make corsages and she was so good at it, that many of my teachers would request them. I often would carry them to school with me to make the delivery. Frances was very artistic. Her ability to draw from her imagination was something that I admired and hoped that someday I would inherit her abilities. As I grew older, I used to think it was a shame that my mother did not have further education. She could have been a great artist. She was indeed a woman who had many possibilities and interests. I cannot share all the many memories I have of my mother, just a few. I remember her riding horses, exercising with Jack La Lane in the mornings, while we children joined in the exercise as well. She loved reading and encouraged us to do the same. She insisted would acquire as much education as possible. Bless you mother and thank you.

“ Prayers and a mass is being offered for Frances Solomon at St. Jude's National Shrine in Maryland. My mother, Frances Solomon, had great devotion to St. Jude's Children Hospital in Tennessee. She was dedicated to praying the Rosary throughout her life, just like her mother and her grandmother before her. Thank you for that memory and teaching me to pray with you at my side as a child.

Love from your daughter,

Linda

“ Bonnie, Linda & Stephanie,

Sorry to see that your MOM has passed away. She was a nice lady, very friendly and easy to talk with. I remember when Bonnie & I first started working at Nalco, we would take lunch together and many days we would go to your MOM's for lunch. She would usually have soup and sandwich for us. Keeping you ladies in my thoughts and prayers.

“ My grandma and my girls' G.G., we love you so much. We will never forget your sense of humor and gracious love. Johnny Carson, General Hospital, Jello, Kool Aid, drinks in Mason jars, lemon pie, sewing yo-yos, cutting patterns, the great chicken scandal (it was KFC), gardening, cooking, that HUGE coffee pot, boiling crabs, Whisk detergent, the smell of bacon cooking...too many memories to name. You have made a huge impact on us, and we thank you for being you. May you rest in peace.
