“ My precious friend, I find myself almost speechless. Still trying to find my way beyond missing our evening talks. Memories? Way too many to enumerate. We met when we were both working at the newest business development at the time, Greenway Plaza. We carpoled together, regularly went to lunch with your mother when she worked at A. J. Foyt. It was always a special treat to get together with your father. He was fun and kept things lively. We married, loved, gave birth to beautiful children and always loved one another from the first moment we met. You taught me how to enjoy coffee, you were my Maid Of Honor when I married my Kevin. I remember our last conversation a few weeks ago. We were able to talk about how deep our love for one another was and what we meant to one another. I am so glad we could do that. Ashley, Amanda, and Amber your Mother loved you so deeply. The three of you were her world. May God comfort you and keep you as you learn to live in this world without your Momma. Mr. and Mrs. Crowder may you be consoled knowing that Barbara is with Christ. May all of our broken hearts be healed.

“ Miss Barbara always was smiling. She has big beautiful eyes that I know her daughters get from her. My memories are from when we were younger I remember her drinking milk a lot when I go visit Amber and her sisters. I remember she could make some mean spaghetti sauce. I remember thinking she was a cool mom because she would listen to hip-hop. I always enjoyed seeing Miss Barbara and I know she loved her family so much and I know parts of her live on in her daughters and her grandchildren forever. Tiffany Leschber
