“ I became close to my cousin Ben. I miss him frequently and deeply, along with Skip. My family has pretty much passed on. But I remember them and hope to see them again!

“ It's difficult to express the gratitude I have for knowing you. Thank you for sharing with me and my lil' Irish lasses. The wealth of knowledge, hopes and dreams, the stories (I never heard the same one twice), a listening ear and always positive advice. I will cherish and utilize what I have learned everyday. I will share what I have been given with others as it was so freely given to me. I miss you already, Ben. Your mission on earth has been accomplished. Peace, my dear friend. 💙

“ From the first time I met Uncle Ben, we forged a bond that evolved over the years into a great friendship. I will always cherish my memories with Ben and I will always be thankful to my cousin Roger for sharing his Uncle with me. I will truly miss our conversations about the “New Thought” as written by Dr. Emmet Fox and Mildred Mann. Never judgmental, Uncle Ben considered us a couple of guys trying to get over being “Born Again Agnostics”. A gentle loving man who knew more about everything than anyone I ever knew, he was always there for you if you needed help. I know this most certainly to be true. Rest in peace my friend. I know the Lord has you in the hollow of His hand.
