“Daddy, thinking over our time together I can not put into words how thankful I am to have had you as my father. Your creative handy man skills always kept my kids begging for more while teaching them patience and ability the accomplish whatever it is they put their minds to while having as little as possible. Your williness to help others and the love you showed to your wife and children never lacked affection. I'm the happiest daughter in the world to have shared your life with you. I love you with my whole heart daddy, and as always "love you me"

“Grandpa, You were my best friend. One of my favorite memories that we have shared together is when you would put me in your lap and say "I got your number!" and I would say "How? I don't have a phone". Another one is when I would spend the night at yalls house and in the morning I would come down the stairs to find you drinking your coffee and reading the newspaper! You were such a joy to be around and you always had a smile on your face. I'm gonna miss you dearly, but I'm glad you and grandma are together again. Thankypu for all the fun-filled memories that we have shared together. Love you, Randi.

“ I will make this short and sweet. We would go over to my grandpas house and visit. When it was time to go home we would say our goodbyes. Grandpa always would say "Take care of your mama". And I will for as long as I live

“ Dear Daddy,

As I sit here and remember back on all the good times we all shared together as a family, my mind takes me back to our house on Main St in Sugar Land backed up to Oyster Creek. You would fish, takes us riding in your boat, made the largest swing for Tammy and I, but the best memory of all and made me so proud was to tell my friends that was you blowing the 6 o'clock whistle at Imperial. Thank you daddy for all that you did. You set such a fine example for all of us kids. I'm so thankful you were able to be apart of Emmali's life and meet your great granddaughter, Aubrey. Will think of you often, tell mamma hello and hug her for us all. Until we meet again... I love you daddy. Love, your son Tony.
