“ you're on my mind heavy tonight and most days recently. i still keep asking myself so many questions that i have no answers to. i wish i had the opportunities to know you better. i wish i had time. if it's one thing i'd grant in this world it would be time. i'd take it & give it to the purpose of knowing you. i hope you're the sun that shines on me and the rain that hits my skin. i hope you're the sunset i watch every night. i love you booger.

We are supposed to be growing up and conquering the world together. Id give the world to have you back only even if just for a day. I will love you always and I can't wait to see you again some day.

“ Thinking of you always, precious boy...my heart just a whole lot more heavy lately, it seems. I see you all of the time, in different places, different faces, some familiar, and some new. There are moments when a beautiful boy just like you will walk into my life, into my view, out of thin air, and I am captivated....frozen in that moment...completely still...completely heartbroken, but yet almost peaceful. Because there you are, son. Of course, it is always you in my heart.And then, there are the ones here still on earth, the ones who are a part of you still here; such blessings they are. And I see you. There is no greater gift now, one I couldn't have ever imagined while you were still here. I already thought I had been given the greatest gifts. It is an honor even more to watch them grow. I miss you. They miss you. We all miss you. Forever...until my last breath here, I will carry you. And then into eternity. My love for you goes on and on. Forever yours, Mom

“ Hey Cameron, hope heaven is treating you well. I think about you often, and continue to remember riding the bus together. The last time I spoke to you, we weren't on great terms and I may continue to regret that for the rest of my life. I wish we could have come to an understanding, or that I would have put my pride aside for once. You were great, and I hope I never again let petty misunderstandings get in the way of seeing how awesome a person is. I come back to this page almost every year and I never post because I feel so undeserving. Seeing your sisters and mom post regularly shows how much of an impact you left on every person around you. I just wish you could have seen that before you left. Thanks for blessing us, Cameron. Stay golden.

“ Hey booger. It's your little sister Dee. I'm almost 12 in 5 more days. For Christmas. I was just thinking bout you and stuff cause I've had a hard time rn going through some things. getting older and older without you is hard. I wish I would have seen you Bc I was only 5 .. I don't really rememeber anything. And I hated being at that age but you know I can't do anything bout it. Just wish I had a little bit longer to know you. Everyone has a little bit of infinity and you only had a little. Atleast you lived in your teen years booger. I wish I could see you all grown up .. Almost 21 cam &#240;&#159;&#145;&#143; Your getting older . There's not a day when I'm having a horrible day and making bad decisions for myself that I don't look up and ask you stuff. Honestly I wish you would have stayed alive. You had a whole life ahead of you &#240;&#159;&#152;&#158; . Just anyways. I Love You booger. Hope your doing well.

“ I thought about you today, Cameron. As I was driving home from church, the song Viva La Vida came on the radio and I began to picture so vividly as it was played during your slide show at your funeral.

It's strange. I only got to know you over a period of about eight days, and yet from the start I felt that we had some sort of connection; an understanding of the things we had each gone through.

Because the time we were together was so brief, I can understand the disbelief by your family when I showed up all the way from Michigan to go to your funeral. But I knew I had to be there. You were an amazing guy. And funny, too! You made me smile so many times with your little joke about me literally falling for you.:

Anyway, I think about you often, and like to talk to you as well. I wonder if you can hear me up there..?

Love you, Cameron. And I'm not the only one.

Party with Jesus for me until I arrive, okay? Until I get there to see you, the photo of you in my wallet should suffice.:
