“ My heart was a little broken today when I found out that Carol passed away almost two years ago and I didn't know. I'm so sorry. We talked on the phone about five years ago and then 'life' got in the way and we didn't communicate after that. I found out today that our 45th class reunion is scheduled for July 12, 2014 so I got on the internet to find her. 'Find a Grave' popped up. I was in shock. I had to read it a couple of times to believe that it was Carol. I knew Carol's parents, brother and sister. But, I never knew her husband, or children. We were inseparable in high school. Shared so many good times. I regret that our lives moved on after high school and we didn't stay in touch that much. A lesson learned today that I will share with my grandchildren! I did share with her through the years - when we did talk - that she taught me one of the most valuable lessons of my life. When Carol moved to Bay City with her family she once told me after we became friends that her first impression of me was that I was stuck-up.....because I never smiled at anyone. I was shy and kept to myself I guess. Carol said something like, "you are not anything like I first thought you were - keep that SMILE on your face"! I shared that experience with my children as I was raising them and even now I tell that story to my grandchildren. I know she is greatly missed by all who knew her. She loved and served her Savior throughout her life. I'm certain He had a special work for her there to call her home so young. I love you Carol! -

“ Carol was so sweet and a kind hearted person. I loved how she would talk about the Lord with me and pray. Out of the 3 years working with Carol I know for sure she loved God and spoke on the word. She is no longer suffering and is now at peace in a better place. May God bless her soul.

Love,

Staci

“ Carol was one of the sweetest and kindest person I knew. One of the many things I loved about Carol was that she passionately loved the Lord. She prayed for you and with you all the time. I'm going to truly miss her. I will be thinking about Carol especially this Thanksgiving because I am truly thankful to have met and worked alongside Carol. Without a doubt, I know in my heart Carol is in peace with the Lord. My prayers are with the family.

“ Carol has received her healing now and is in the presence of her King Jesus. She lived to share her faith with others and many at Sysco were touched by her love. Her friendship meant so much to me and she will be greatly missed. Blessings to her family during this time of sorrow.

“ *Those we love don't go away,
They walk beside us every day, Unseen, unheard, but always near,
Still loved, still missed and very dear.*

We will all miss Carol she has touched so many people in her life and her loss will be felt by all.

“ Heaven is now a little brighter. Carol is able to be at peace and await the rest of us when we are called home. I am proud to have known Carol as a friend first an associate second. Sysco has lost one of our brightest stars...but she was never ours she was always HIS!!!

“ Carol was one of the first people I met when I started working at Sysco 12 years ago. She was one of the nicest, friendliest people you would ever want to meet. She had such a great spirit. She loved her family, but what she loved the most was the Lord. She has completed her assignment here on earth and she now calls heaven her home. I pray that God will strengthen the family during this time.
