“ *Granny,
Im so glad that I found a place I can say what i always wanted to say to you. First of all, Thank You. I was always too young to understand how much you took care of us. I never could find the courage to just say thank you. After having a child of my own, i have come to learn how to Love, give Love and say what i wanted to before it is too late. I wish I had just 1 more day with you to tell you how much i loved you and how i admired you. You never spoke down on anyone. I will never meet another you. Some great things have happened for me in my life since youve been gone and i tell people it's You, My Gaurdian Angel. I will always make sure Brice remembers you. And Dad loves you too.*

“ The loss of a such a special person as Aunt Carolyn touches so many people in their way. For my family, we will always remember a loving, kind person, with such a sense of humor that could resolve any situation into a fit of laughter. I will always miss talking to her and the honor of being in her presence. Uncle Billy the loss for you is tremendous, she will always be in your heart and soul. All the children have lost a mother that always seemed to be there at the right time and with the right answer to your questions. All the grand and great grandchildren no doubt have their own feelings of loss. Just know there is a party in heaven with such a reunion,we can only imagine,but with such a forgiving FATHER IN HEAVEN we can know that party will include us. God Bless You All. Aunt Carolyn will forever live in our hearts.

I know she will be missed so much by her family but you can find comfort in knowing that heaven has welcomed another angel who will shine her light over all of you until you meet again. “ Tammy my heart goes out to you at this time in your grief. I know how very much you loved your mama and how you will miss her. I'm so sorry that I never got to know her. I know from the stories you've told over the years that she was a great woman and the backbone of your family. She was always there for you when you needed her. I know you have a lot of good memories that you can always keep close to your heart. Just think how blessed you've been to have a mama like that. Though it's hard now, know that she is at peace and in good hands with God. Please convey my sympathies to your dad and the rest of your family.

“ Butterfly, I miss you! I'm so proud to have had you for my mama. Your strength has taught me that the only failure in life is one that doesn't try.

I will always remember you making a full course meal out of what i though was nothing. Your soft skin and pretty hair will always remain on my mind. You never had a bad word to say about anyone, you would always say "their time is coming." and for most it did.

Im so glad that my kids were able to share a part of your life. The tears I cry today are mostly happy because you are in the great heavens watching over us with no worry or fear. I miss you mama! I love you so much!

“ Mama,

What will I do without you? I ask myself who will I call to tell those funny jokes to? And what about cooking advice? And who will sit long enough to hear your long drawn out books you read? I can't help but cry and wonder how and what your doing. I bet you are listening to your favorite old country music in the kitchen, cooking with your Mama, sisters and brother Jim and talking to Timmy. I know you are in another world, and know that Daddy will be well taken care of. As a family, we will pull it together and stay strong through all of this.

If it's not too much trouble, I will be stopping by to visit you every time I am over in your area to talk. I have to Mama to get over this sorrow and pain I feel. You have taught me to be a strong man through all the tough times in life, but Mama this one has got me right in the heart. I hope to see you one day and throw my arms around you and never let you go. We love you so much butterfly.

Your son Tony

PS - We'll keep your flowers watered for you!
