“ We are so saddened by the loss of you Alex. You have always been such a wonderful neighbor, would help us anytime we needed it, looking for our lost dogs mostly! May you rest in peace, and watch over all that knew you.

“ Alex, we could never thank you enough for the times you helped us out when we moved to the "country" from Houston. 25 years went so fast. We are just so sorry your time came so soon. You proved to our special son Kyle, that you really were a super hero, with all the tractors, backhoes, and various wonderful machines that you made sure he got a ride on. When he lost his hair to cancer drugs, he was so happy to show you that his head looked just like yours. And you, like your dad, thought he could do no wrong. Thanks for all the great memories, the fireworks on holidays, catfishin in the pond and our families sharing so many happy times together. God bless the family and loved ones left behind. Thanks for all the memories, friend, see ya on the other side. Jimi, Shelley, and Kyle.

“ So, so sorry to hear that Alex has passed away. He was a dear and precious person and my regret is not being able to see him in quite some time. I will always remember that shy smile and quiet voice. He was loved.

“ I have never been so heartbroken as I am today. As I sit here and look at our memories together I know we had a love that only few are so lucky to have. You are my best friend, my confidant, my security, my love. I will miss you with every breath I take and I will cherish every moment that we had together. There are no words to express the pain I feel that you are gone but I know you will always be with me. You have your wings now baby. Stand tall as you always have , fix the lights up there, scuba the many oceans and know I will always and forever carry you with me. I love you baby.
