“ Mr. George S. Chappell filled a huge hole in this world for every living thing he encountered. His infectious laugh. His contagious caring. His passion for living. He gave to life with all his heart. Just his smile to a stranger as he walked past them on the street (or in the grocery store) was enough to change someone's life. He infected life with his "giggly" ways. His presence is missed yet his soul lives on and fills that hole for all who knew him. May our souls cross paths again. My sincere condolences to the Chappell family. ...a good man...gone but no way will he be forgotten.

“ It has been a few years, now knowing you aren't here sure leaves a hole in my heart. I cherish knowing you, our younger years, crazy times, fun times. I remember our camping trip to Lake Livingston with John Laskoski, where you almost stepped on a big copperhead. We had run out of beer so were able to see it. Save me a good spot at the table! Love ya brother!

“ I can not come up worth words right now, but I am sure you are ok with that. You always told me I was full of shit anyway. Saying I love you and you will be missed just doesn't seem like enough. Enough with those feelings, right Georgia? This picture sums you up you goofy bastard!!
