“ hey daddy- well i had to have a roofer come to the house and look at the leak i had in the kitchen, so we called gabriel's cousin mike and he asked about you, remember after the house was built he came by and was talking to you about the roof. well he remembered and asked how you were so i told him. lets see what else the boys cut their hair real short this time it looks good though. i miss you alot still i guess that will never change, but with this i feel a little better i guess thats why i keep doing it. i still haven't heard from georgie i tried calling again and left a message for him on her phone still no response, so im starting to get a little worried, but last time i worried he was fine, so lets hope for the best right. well i love you tonz and one more thing albert sent me a picture of a blue mustang from a car show he went to and i looks just like yours...only it works ha ha ha. well love you tonz until later. margie and the monkeys
