“ So sorry to hear about Phil. Sorry to have missed the service!! Just found out today. Phil and I went to UH-Downtown together in the early 90’s. We worked together for a while at Bechtel. He joined us many times on holidays at our home. He loved New Years and 4th of July celebrations. We would always get lots of fireworks and he would always say “it’s not for us...it’s for the kids”. But we all knew it was for our enjoyment. Going to miss you Phil. Thanks for being a great friend, and for the Armadillo Egg recipe!!!

“ I had not been on the same project with Phil, however my first encounter with him, he had a pretty difficult AutoCAD question, that I figured out how to answer for him, and I was relieved he didn’t need any more help after that, it was on Bohai Bay because what he was trying to do was really complex but at the same time he was saving a lot of time by letting AutoCAD do all the work for him. After that, He would teach S3D on his lunch break, and yeah, I would hear some of the sarcasm and humor that you guys are talking about, and you can always see the wheels turning in his bright mind. Another time, Phil, Kyle Ray and I took a Statistics class at night after work at UH Sugar Land, and I think both me and Phil agreed that Statistics wasn’t for us, however he did a lot better than I did in that class, and I was just glad that I passed it and hope to never see a z-score again. 😊 Phil was very bright and humorous and will be missed.

“ I was so sad to hear of Phil's passing. I am Working out of another Fluor office at the moment, a coworker contacted me and told me the news. He and I started at Fluor about the same time. We have worked on many projects together and had many conversations and laughs. He was a joy to work with. I will miss him.

“ Philip will be missed. He and I shared many experiences and conversations at work. Philip was at the top of my list to talk with about things that we both took care of. Talking with him was more than just talking with a work colleague. He was a friend. Finding and sharing the sometimes-underlying humor that was mixed in with the real side of our work at times made things better. We often through in references to a professor that we both had. Even though we took her course years apart, she had a saying about problem solving. It was often our inside joke, that so many times fit right in with what issues we had. Again, he will be missed.

“ I've worked with Phil since I began here at Fluor in 2006, and he has always been my go-to for a variety of issues I've encountered. Phil always delivered an answer with a side of humor, and he is a valuable resource that will not easily be replaced.

“ Todd and I thought the world of Phil. I loved his sense of humor. He would send me chat messages being so sarcastic, needed it during a stressful day at work. He will be missed terribly.

“ Dear Douglas family,

I was so sad to hear of Phil's passing.

I worked with Phil at Fluor for about eight years and always enjoyed working with him. He was one of the most thorough, detail- oriented people that I have ever known.

Since he and I were about the same age, we also had much in common beyond work, discussing, on an almost daily basis, movies and television shows that we had seen, video games that we had played or the latest Astros or Texans news.

I considered Phil a very good friend and I'll miss him very much.

“ Dear Douglas family,

I just heard the sad news of Phil's passing. Phil and I worked together at Fluor for many years. Besides being one of the most intelligent, hard-working and helpful co-workers I have ever met, he was also a wonderful friend. We shared many laughs and many beers after work back in our drinking days! I have great memories of sitting at the bar with him, debating our favorite movies, tv shows, and swapping cooking recipes. He was always kind, generous and endlessly entertaining. I will miss him greatly.

“ Douglas Family,

I was deeply saddened by the news of Philip's passing. I have worked off and on with Phil over his many years at Fluor. He was always a joy to work with. I always appreciated his quick wit and zingers he would interject into a conversation. He was great to have on a project because he was willing to do any task put before him. He will be greatly missed by the Fluor Piping Family.

“ Douglas Family

I cannot even begin to express the sadness in me upon hearing of Phil's passing. He and i had been friends for quite some time, and had so many mutual likes and pet peeves its like we could have been brothers. As I sit here typing this all I can think of is the times we laughed about some story shared, or some experience that we could always seem to find a way to slip into a conversation. I could always count on him, not only for a laugh but also for advice on so many topics. Please know that you are all in my thoughts and prayers, and also know i will so miss talking to my friend.
